Notes for John Drew

Blackborough End tower mill at Middleton was an 6 storey buttressed tower windmill built by John Drew in 1852. The ogee cap with its iron gallery was vertically boarded with a ball finial and had a petticoat with its own gutter and drainpipe; it was turned by a six bladed fan. The original four double shuttered patent sails had 9 bays of 3 shutters and 1 bay with 1 shutter on the outer pair, however it was noted in 19827 that these had been changed to 8 bays of 3 shutters. The sails powered 3 pairs of French burr stones. A wooden stage was set around the second and a smut machine was worked on the top floor of the mill.

John Drew was born in Middleton in 1805 and married Jane Driver in 1827 and together they had 7 children.

Notes for John Drew

It is said that John Drew died at the very early age of 35 from consumption, which he caught from constantly hanging out of the upstairs windows, in all weathers, to ensure that the sails were turning on the Mill. On his death, John's brother, Thomas became the miller. Thomas carried on the business, eventually passing it to his son John Drew.

Transcript of Inquest of Julia Drew
Lynn News and County Press 13 June 1891

The body of Mrs Drew, whose mysterious disappearance from her home last week was recorded in the Lynn News, was picked up shortly after noon on Saturday, about a quarter of a mile below St Germain's Bridge, by a butcher named George Bates.

An inquest was held on Monday morning by Mr R A Wilkin, the coroner, at the Foresters Hall, Wigganhall St Germain's, when the following evidence was taken;

Arthur Drew deposed; I am a watchmaker, and reside at Lynn. The deceased was my mother and was 55 years of age. She was a widow, my father dying in 1871, The deceased lived with my brother and myself at No 7 Whincop Street; my brother and I maintaining her. About a fortnight ago deceased was taken ill with influenza. She was a woman of strong will, and we could not prevail upon her either to have medical attention or to keep to her bed. Up to the time of deceased being taken ill I had not noticed anything peculiar or strange in her manner or behaviour. For the past week the deceased had complained of pains in her head and her memory seemed to fail her. I noticed that the deceased had for some days past looked dreamy and peculiar about the eyes. There was, however, nothing to lead me to suppose that there was anything the matter with her. On Wednesday last, the 3rd inst, the deceased appeared in her usual health, in fact, if anything, she seemed more cheerful. I last saw her alive about half past four in the afternoon. I had a half holiday that afternoon, and was going boating up the river. At a little before ten o'clock in the evening I returned home and I was surprised to find the deceased was not there. I went all over the house to try and find her, and called for her, but received no answer. On a shelf in the recess of the keeping room a blotter and inkstand usually stands. After waiting for some 20 minutes or so, I happened to glance upon the table, where I saw the ink stand had been placed. This attracted my curiosity, and I then opened the blotter and found the letter I now produce, which is in the hand writing of the deceased. I then went in search of my brother, whom I found and sent home. I, in company with Mr Alfred Smith, then went to the railway station to make enquiries as to whether the deceased had taken train from Lynn, and we found that nothing had been heard or seen of her. We then proceeded to the Police Station and made a report to the Officer in charge, After which we went to the river bank, but as it was so dark, we had to postpone our search until between two and three the next morning. In the interim we made frequent visits to my house to see if she had returned. The next Morning Mr Smith and I walked along the East bank of the river, and when midway between the cut bridge and the railway bridge Mr Smith noticed a hat floating on the edge of the water. I procured the hat, and recognised it as the property of my Brother. I then dropped the hat and it floated away. Exactly at the spot where the hat was found I noticed a track of footsteps in the mud down to the water. The track appeared to be perfectly straight. Mr Smith reported this fact to the police, and the Chief Constable caused a diligent search to be made, and a reward was offered for the recovery of the body. Between three and four o'clock on Saturday afternoon I received information that a body had been washed up at St Germain's, and upon proceeding there, I immediately recognised it as the body of my mother. The deceased was wearing a coat waistcoat and trousers, which were my own clothes. They were clothes which I had discarded, and they were hanging up in my bedroom when I left home on the afternoon of Wednesday. I omitted to state that when I returned home from boating on Wednesday evening that all the doors were open and the lamp burning, which led me to suppose that the deceased had gone to see some of her friends.

By the Juryman; At the time I found the hat and noticed the footmarks the tide would be at half flood. In my mother's bedroom a pair of stays and some of her underclothing were lying on the bed.

Alice Holmes said; I am a nurse at the Lynn hospital and knew the deceased. She had a large circle of friends. On Wednesday the 3rd inst about 7.30pm I called upon her at her house in Whincop Street and remained with her until a quarter or twenty minutes past eight. I noticed that the deceased manner was very different to what it usually was. It was the custom of the deceased to lead the conversation, but on Wednesday she seemed disinclined to speak, I thought her manner strange, but knowing that she had not been well I attached no importance to it. Deceased appeared restless would not sit still, and kept going from one room to another, In consequence of her manner, I asked her if I was stopping her from doing something and she answered "no I have nothing to do" The deceased was properly dressed and quite tidy in her appearance. When I left the deceased the lamp was not lighted as it was not dark.

George Bates said; I am a butcher and live at St Germain's. on Saturday about 12.30pm, I was passing over the middle level bridge on the west side of the river Ouse, and saw what I thought to be a bundle lying on the bank of the river about a quarter of a mile below St Germain's bridge I went to the spot and saw the body of a man, as I judged by the clothes. It was low water and the body was left high and dry on the bank, I immediately reported the fact to PC Baker.

George Baker said; I am a police constable stationed at St Germain's. On Saturday afternoon last I had a communication made to me by the last witness and I at once proceeded to the spot, where I found a dead body which appeared to be that of a man. I had the deceased conveyed to this house and placed it in the clubroom and locked the body in. The instant I raised the body from the Bank I saw that it was that of a woman. I could see some long hair with a comb in it, and also that there was a wedding ring and a keeper on the left hand. Under the circumstances I refrained from making any search of the body, except that I found some letters, papers and bills which purport to concern and to be the property of Mr Arthur Drew. Mr Arthur Drew identified the body on Saturday afternoon and with that exception no person save the surgeon, has seen or touched the body.

Mr Ralph Brown deposed; I am a surgeon in Lynn. I have made a post mortem examination of the body of the deceased this morning. I found no evidence of any bruises or other injuries and I am of the opinion that the deceased met her death by drowning. There was sufficient external evidence to show the cause of death and there was no need for me to make an internal examination of the body. In this case there was positive evidence that death was caused by drowning.

The jury returned a verdict "That the deceased at some time between 8.20pm in the evening of the 3rd inst and 12 o'clock at noon on Saturday the 6th inst, drowned herself in the River Ouse whilst in a state of temporary insanity".

The suicide letter that was left by Julia Drew and produced to the coroner at the inquest was deemed too personal to be published. "The letter was to the effect already stated, but as it also referred to family affairs it is not deemed advisable to publish it" coroner R A Wilkin

Albert Drew, My great grandfather, was a cabinet maker. He worked at various place's including Sandringham House for the Royal Household. Making and repairing Furniture. He worked to a man called Mr Rainbow Whom he visited frequently at Hampton court palace. He also worked for Trennelworths, as a cabinet maker.

His Father John Drew Died in 1871 when Albert was a young boy. His Mother went away and worked as a housekeeper in Wisbech, cambridgeshire, for a lady known as Jane Bewicke and her nephew a Curate. It was always thought that his mother also died whilst Albert was very young, by drowning in a pond, but this has turned out not to be the case as she has been found on the 1881 and 1891 census. He and his siblings were brought up by their Aunt Elizabeth Driver, Sister of John Drew. Also Thomas and William Drew his uncles, were, at one stage his guardians, signing his apprenticeship documents.

Albert moved to Kings Lynn where he met and married Florence Mary Holmes, They had four children. The Family Moved Firstly to sheffield and then onto Nottingham in 1914 because of the threat of the Zepplin bombings at the beginning of the first world war, over kings lynn. I can find no reference to a birth for Dorothy Euradice Freer in 1893 or 2 years either side ie 1891-1895, or with variations of the spelling of the surname or any birth registrations of her siblings at or around the stated dates of birth. The Freer family do appear on the 1901 Census but the surname is spelt Frur. The spelling of the name indicates that there may be of Germanic descent. According to Barbara Raven her Grandmother was supposedly part Irish.

She was born in Kings Lynn Norfolk and moved to Nottingham with her parents when she was about six, at the beginning of the 1st world war. She worked in a sweet shop on Parliament Street. This is where she met her husband to be Stanley, as he worked at the Evening News and would call at the shop for sweets. She had one daughter Hilary Avril. Edna also worked in a local factory that manufactured Typewriters. Her health was not very good and she was diagnosed with Multiple Schlerosis (MS) when she was in her mid thirties. She died at the age of 57.

Notes for Stanley Norman Boulting

My Grandfather

See notes for Mother Emma Jane

On Birth cert fathers name given as George Boulting. There is no George Boulting having ever been registered around this time. Birth / Death or Marriage.

Emma Cowdell was married to Arthur William Boulting.

Perhaps a combination of George Patterson and The Boulting surname.

His mother died when he was 7 years old.

After the death of his mother Stanley was taken in by Mr and Mrs John and Emma Patterson, who were neighbours and friends of his mother. It was also suspected that their son George is the biological father of Stanley, this has now been proved from old papers, documents and a process of investigation.

Stanley always new that he had relatives in Bingham and Nottingham, but never had any contact with them for the rest of his life, and likewise non of his relatives ever contacted him throughout his lifetime.

He joined the Evening News in Nottingham when he left school and workrd in the machine room. He had an accident when he was 21 loosing three fingers in the printing press on his right hand. He met his wife to be Edna Drew while recuperating from the accident. On returning to work he became a proof reader untill the outbreak of the 2nd world war. He worked in the munitions factory during the war, returning to printing, this time the Nottingham Evening Post where he remained untill his retirement.

Stanley was diagnosed as a diabetic in his latter years and had to give himself insulin injections daily.
